QUICK SNAPSHOT

The recent rally combined with the upcoming number has lead to a surge in producers locking in 2016 and even 2017 bushel prices. There's been particular interest in longer dated corn contracts: CZ16, CK17, CN17.

Neutral to bullish producers took to Deferred Contracts (for this year's crop) and Fence Plans (for next year's crop), with Fence Plans being particularly popular in those long-dated corn contracts.

More neutral folks started to price their grain 30 to 40 cents above the current market with Enhancer Plus and Reserve Plans.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Did you know that SCS created new versions of its Structure 1-pagers?

Our structure 1-pagers were recently updated and now feature more information so that it's easier for you and your originators to familiarize yourself with our tools.

Now 2 pages long, these PDFs include advantages, disadvantages, and producer bias of each structure. The second page features two examples of the structure, with corresponding random market scenario graphs.

The new Structure 2-Pagers can be found in your designated SCS Google Drive folder in "SCS Structure Descriptions."

For additional information on these documents, contact your broker or the SCS Desk.
